

Dear CIR Student:

This list collects all currently reported classes in the CIR orbit for which you are eligible without having to petition the Associate Director of the program. Please note that permission to enroll is at the discretion of the faculty member(s) teaching each class. In most cases, timely online registration will guarantee enrollment.

As you look over the list to plan your curriculum, please bear in mind that course listings for Winter and Spring Quarters are preliminary only and incomplete. We will issue an updated list for Winter and Spring Quarters in advance of the registration period for each. Minor class changes for the Autumn Quarter may occur. Be sure to check COURSESEARCH.UCHICAGO.EDU for updated class times, locations, and any prerequisites for enrollment.

For detailed course descriptions, please consult COURSESEARCH.UCHICAGO.EDU and/or the departmental course catalogs HERE.

Syllabi for many courses may be found on CANVAS. Navigate to Courses/All Courses/Browse More Courses. In the search box, enter the call number for the course, e.g. INRE 43000. Though past syllabi give you a good idea of what a course may be like, keep in mind that syllabi are often updated from year to year.

Per the CIR curriculum, each student must enroll in 3 for-credit courses per quarter plus INRE 46500 MA Thesis Workshop.

During their year in residence (Autumn, Winter plus Spring Quarters), each student must take

- at least 7 (of 9) for-credit courses from this and future updated lists of approved courses;
- take at least 6 (of 9) for-credit courses in departments that are affiliated with the Division of the Social Sciences;
- take at least 3 for-credit courses in each of two fields of specialization;
- and enroll in 2 out of 3 CIR Core Seminars (INRE 43000, 43100, and 43800).

Most courses offered by departments marked  below cannot be counted as social sciences courses. Be sure to check COURSESEARCH.UCHICAGO.EDU and/or consult with your preceptor to identify the courses that share a listing with the Social Sciences. For the sake of CIR's distribution requirements, all departments not marked  are affiliated with the Division of the Social Sciences.

We generally list courses under the department code in which the faculty member teaching the course holds their primary appointment. This explains, for example, why very few classes are listed under CIR's own code (INRE). For cross-listed courses, you may register under any of the codes listed below.

To courses assigned to Field 5 – Research Methods in the Social Sciences, we affix a proficiency code. It captures the extent of background knowledge you should have to guarantee a successful learning experience plus the pace of instruction.

B Suitable for beginning practitioners of the method;

A Suitable for advanced practitioners of the method who will be able to keep up with an accelerated pace of instruction;

A! Suitable for those advanced practitioners who have majored in and excelled at practicing the method.

S Part of a course sequence. Earlier courses may serve as prerequisites for later ones.

Prior to registration, you must meet with your preceptor to discuss learning objectives and suitable courses to meet those objectives. On Monday, September 18, all MA students will register themselves for Autumn Q classes at my.uchicago.edu. BA/MA students will submit a webform with their course registration selections no later than noon, Friday, September 15. Associate Dean of Students Brett Baker (bbaker@uchicago) will send a link to the form the week before registration.

Students who are interested in taking a Booth School of Business course must submit a petition HERE. The portal will open on September 18, 10am. Students who are interested in taking a Law School course must submit a petition HERE. You must secure instructor consent by email before petitioning.
